JUNE 2019 EDITION

Coming together is a beginning.

Keeping together is a progress.

Working together is success.

Medical Records

There is more to patient records than meets the eye.

When we think of Medical Records in a home health agency we think of simple file keeping however it is far and beyond record keeping. In speaking to Gina, Lynn and Eunice there is meticulous work involved that requires attention to detail. They take absolute pride and care in ensuring that all the elements of patient records are accounted for on a daily basis. Our medical records team is able to accomplish so much in such a demanding deadline. Their main duties require that they are in compliant with signed orders and that patient records are uploaded onto our EMR program. Furthermore, they track all orders and verify that the doctors information is correct.

Medical Records department typically request H&P from hospitals, provide records as requested from billing department and adheres to HIPAA at all times. So, what is our medical records department working on? Making sure their work is in concentric circle by staying current and updated on all their work. Organizing patient documents and physician order.

This department is important because it requires complete and accurate maintenance of patient records and documents. All medical staff can access all patient information and history. It is an essential department for continuity of patient care. Being in Medical Records requires detective work. Locating Doctors, verifying correct PCP and just confirming accurate information.

Most of all the medical records team help out where needed!
